- radio & semi-intercom solutions

Design and installation of radio and semi-intercom systems can be complicated by demanding surroundings: the area covered may be large or sectioned into floors and rooms.

The design can be further complicated if the system must provide coverage of noisy or hazardous areas such as machine halls and engine rooms, where hearing protection is required.

MP Radio is especially designed to ensure coverage in demanding environments and consequently, our solutions are found in increasingly more land based facilities as well as at sea.

Combined with FM headsets, MP Radio provides linkage to the intercom system and 3 centrally controlled channels – in other words: information and entertainment in addition to hearing protection.
